

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A two-layer resin coating system for protecting surfaces against ultraviolet light. An inner layer includes both an ultraviolet absorber and an optical brightener. An outer layer includes sufficient ultraviolet absorptive material to prevent transmissions sufficient to cause the optical brightener in the inner layer to glow or reflect light which is perceived as yellow.